Mr. S.M.Cowden,
Sup't. of Fish Culture,
Conservation Commission,
Albany, New York.

Dear Mr. Cowden:-

I have read with much pleasure your recent editorial comment, in the Ticonderoga Sentinel, concerning your approval and that of the Conservation Commission upon the suggestions for raising the waters in certain lakes to improve fish propagation, by erecting short and easily constructed dams at the outlets.

Referring particularly to your letter of Dec. 23d, 1933 to Mr. Peter Flint, who is one of our summer colonist on Eagle Lake in Essex County, N.Y., I want to say that Eagle Lake should be one of the lakes to receive first consideration for stream improvement to help breeding facilities for the reason that several years ago the water-level of this lake was lowered by the purchaser of land at the end of the lake by "pulling out" the spillway located thereon, thereby destroying the spawning beds near the outlet. This, naturally, changed the habitat of the fish by leaving a narrow, threading stream where formerly there was a large area of water over shallows in which the spawn was hatched.

This Association would appreciate any efforts which you or and the Conservation Commission could extend us in securing the cooperation of the CWA of Essex County toward the work of restoring this dam so as to improve the fish-breeding.

As secretary of this Association I would be pleased to hear your further advice or suggestions in this matter.

very truly yours,

Edmund O. Luthy
