

Eagle Lake Revisited

1920-1930

Based on the Ticonderoga Sentinel

Eagle Lake - Ticonderoga Sentinel

The Eagle Lake news for 1920-1923 was created around the dining room table at Bedlam Point by the Harris family and Leighton Lodge (Gladys' oldest brother) with help from Gladys and youngest brother, Alvin. The news was hand delivered to the Ticonderoga Sentinel office.

The Harris family and their cook spent early June to early October at their Eagle Lake house. They traveled to the lake from their home in Buffalo, first by train and later by automobile. Their dogs Frantz and Fritz accompanied them. Visitors included Grandmother Haist, Uncle Foster, girls' school friends, and Harold Popp. The Kleydorf family visited during the summer of 1918.

The Harrises had two row boats, one named Tuppy, and a Sponson canoe. The Harrises enjoyed hikes to Camel's Head, Eagle Cliff, Potter (for blueberries), Pharoah, Rock Pond, Hammondville Mines, Chilson, Pyramid Pond, Putt's Pond, Stonylonesome, and the graphite mines.

The following news collection re-creates the Eagle Lake columns found in the Ticonderoga Sentinel during the 1920's. As introduction, a Chilson column from 1919 is included because of its reference to the Harrises. I found no evidence of an Eagle Lake column in the Sentinel for 1919 or 1924-1928. The column did appear again in 1929 and 1930 under new authorship. These local columns were usually submitted by residents.

This presentation is built around the Eagle Lake news found in the Ticonderoga Sentinel during the 1920's. I viewed microfilm of the Sentinel at the Ticonderoga Historical Society to identify relevant weekly issues. Later, I used microfilm borrowed through inter-library loan from the Adirondack Museum library at Blue Mountain Lake, NY, to the Hingham, MA, public library. Maps of Eagle Lake follow the news. The pictures (enlargements) taken in the Harris yard in August, 1990, show sunset and a 92nd birthday celebration for Uncle Edward Archbald - with Caroline K. Harris (left), Jean H. Archbald (right), and Bill Baldwin (concealed).

My thanks to Jean Harris Archbald for the above family history and for her inspiration and information gathering assistance. Also, thank you to Jean and Margel Harris Hinder for their comments on the re-created Eagle Lake news. Their remarks and identifications, added on pages following each year's news, enrich the otherwise straight re-writing.

July 22, 1920

A serious accident was narrowly averted Friday night about seven o'clock by the presence of mind of Captain Alvin Lodge. Captain Alvin had a large party of friends in his speed boat "Tubbo" and while some distance from Herbert Moore's dock, while running at a high speed, the boat struck a sunken log, tearing a large hole in the bottom. Captain Lodge immediately threw himself into the hole and thus stopped the inrush of water, as he headed for the dock, ordering his passengers to be calm. The commotion attracted the attention of Prof. Fritz Garis, Ph. D., of Union College, Schenectady, who frantically rowed to the rescue, removing the passengers. The captain preferred to remain aboard as the boat settled to the bottom. We are hoping for a Carnegie medal for Prof. Garis.

There is one black sheep in the Eagle Lake Inn flock of boats.

Mr. Thompson on Charles Island either loves trouble or is very brave. He has both the power boat "Tin Lizzie" and the speed boat "Iola" in commission.

The outboard motor used by Tom Stowell is so noisy it wakes us up mornings. He should hang a tomato can over the exhaust for a muffler.

"Spike" Foster has discovered that a gimlet will not remove ice cream without puncturing the freezer.

Drusilla Garis has made a wonderful recovery from her recent attack of measles, due to the distance from medical assistance.

It is a matter of record that Mrs. Alanson Moore opened the bathing season here.

Mrs. Mary Moore captured the pig in the chicken coop by the hind leg.

Trench warfare is being waged by motorists along the road. Notice the depth of the ditches.

Some persons on the lake feel they have not received sufficient publicity. If they will send their names, age and present occupation to the compiler of this column same will appear in the obituary notices.

ROSE ABOVE HUMBLE ST!

Thomas Britton a Curious A in English Social Life of T of Queen Anna.

One of the most curious aspects of the social life of London the time of Queen Anne—call Augustan age because of its literary aspect—was a retail deal, named Thomas Britton, who buried in Clerkenwell church London, on October 1, 1714. He chose a humble craft, and a habitation that was a gaudy, pondering in plainness to his trade. Yet this singular man contrived his various talents, and more by his musical tastes, to a proud him the most aristocratic party in London, and to be a member of their society on equal terms with the practice of the noblest art in small quantities, being himself each morning, stated that having finished his he joined a distinguished circle that met each Saturday at one bookellers to discuss literary exchange opinions respecting the best books. This company consisted of such distinguished and powerful names as the Duke of Devonshire, the Earl of Oxford, Pembroke, Lord and Walsingham, house in Aylesbury street, well, was the meeting place of the fashionable society of the time. The ground floor was the house for coal, and above, run breakneck stairs from the street a low narrow room, in a musical room entertained and elegant guests. A portrait remarkable man is in the museum.

NOTHING UNREAL ABOUT

Only an Idealist Would Not expect Anything Else From Modern Guided Youth

Editor George Horace East talking in a Philadelphia editorial.

"I've got no time for realism," because they paint a picture worse than it is. Here's a real story for you:

"A pretty girl was engaged young men simultaneously, evening the parlor maid and said in a scornful voice:

"With Miss Bosnie, them what you're engaged to has better, and somehow they out about them suggestions."

"The pretty girl threw her into the fire pitilessly."

"What the dickens shall I exclaimed,

"But the parlor maid smugly,

"I'll tell you what to do, I said," she said, "I'll go down say you're crying in your room your pop has lost all his money you can be engaged for, keep gent what stays."

"That seems a good plan," pretty girl, and she lit another cigarette and waited.

"The maid was gone about minutes. Then she returned frightened look on her white face."

"Miss Bosnie, both on gone," she said."

Catarrial Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube returned to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine sets thro the blood to the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Write for circular free. All Druggists sell. F. J. CHENEY, Toledo, O.

Ronald Lodge, Miss Gladys Lodge, Miss Fritzi Cameron and John Dunn motored from Albany to the lake Saturday.

We ask Mr. Wickes if it is legal to lock up a strange car found on your property in the same way you would any other livestock.

Mr. George Lancing and grandson left for her home in Albany on Monday.

Some folks are easy. Ed Greenman had picked three quarts of wild raspberries when confronted by the "owner" of the land. The lady put up such a forceable argument that Ed gave up the berries.

Mrs. Osmond gave a delightful childrens' party at Yo-Ho camp in honor of her daughter Iola's ninth birthday.

It is reported that little Georgie at Goodacres' camp caught a nine pound pickerel, using bread crumbs for bait.

George Fisher of Brooklyn is camping on the north shore with a friend.

Mr. "Spike" Foster thinks it strange that cream will turn sour after standing in the sun on a dock for four hours.

Every available camp site on the lake was occupied last Sunday.

George Grenning can object to Harris' bell but Harris says he has lived many years without George but he can't live without the bell.

Wallace Wimple, a guest at the Eagle Lake Inn, had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday. He slipped from Turtle Rock into deep water and his struggles carried him away from the rock. It was some little time before his danger was realized by the other bathers. Then he was sunk by the rush of would be rescuers. Some of the lady spectators suffered more from nervous shock than the victim did from water.

Who put horseradish in the ice cream?

Alfred Lancing has been giving diving exhibitions on Harris' new diving raft all week

Invitations are out for a mask dance at the Eagle Lake Inn Thursday.

Herbert Ratterman's strength has increased so that he broke the flywheel of Luthy's motor by cranking it.

"Heavyweight Bunny" Lodge broke the springboard on Turtle Rock. It has been rebuilt with 6x6 oak.

Mr. Lodge is building a new fireplace in the dining room of his camp. The contractor had just cut a hole in the roof when it started to rain. Some flood.

Miss Adrian Claude walked off the dock at Ednet Lodge late Tuesday night. The water is deep at that point and only the presence of mind of Misses Bertha and Bernice Sartwell that averted a fatality.

(Too late for last week)

Mrs. Inex L. Case of Victor, N.Y., arrived on Saturday for an extended visit with Mrs. Lodge.

There is no danger of Harris' rising bell waking the people on the lake. They serve breakfast at nine o'clock, old time.

Mutt and Jeff will dissolve partnership this week.

Miss Margaret Peck is visiting Miss Ruth Alden

The Pileated Woodpecker, a bird as large as a chicken, is becoming common in this section. Mr. Hurd and Mr. Alden are wearing hats.

The Eagle Lake postoffice has been established at the Eagle Lake Inn.

The cornetist who serenades the lake each evening should not keep us in suspense between toots.

Mrs. Hurd has a large party of guests this week.

Miss E. L. Kenyon will leave for New York Thursday. She has been visiting Mill Lillian Cowan.

The annual croquet championship match was played on the Ednet Lodge court last Friday. H. Ratterman was a 2 to 1 favorite but lost the match to Mr. Bodomer. The cup was filled and presented to the winner, who drank it. What?

Jean's Notes

L. Lodge was Leighton Lodge

Every summer Mr. and Mrs. Stevens boarded at 'Mother' Moore's (now Geisel's) to enjoy fishing.

John Alden was nicknamed Bounder Highmasher.

Margel's Notes

Always loved the Name of Stoneylonesome where Bernice and Bertha lived. Remember well about John Alden and the scars. also remember going on a "tramp" with him, Gladys and others. He broke into someone's summer cottage and we all went in (it wasn't on Eagle Lake). Gladys and I feeling very very guilty.

None of the names on page one bring to mind anything other than remembering Old Mother Moore - I didn't like her.

July 22

Jean's Notes

Prof. Fritz Garis owned house now belonging to Jane Stevens.

Mrs. Mary Moore was Herb Moore's wife.

Ira was Herb Moore's son.

Margel's Notes

Can't remember much about page 2 and only vaguely remember Herb's store - broken steps and lots of kids. Ira asked me if I'd be his girl friend; I tried very gently to say "No".

Misses Bertha and Bernice Sartwell were cooks for the Harris family, first Bernice was the cook and then, following her marriage, Bertha became cook.

Margel's Notes

No mention of Carl's birthday?
Can't remember Mrs. Orman living at YO-HO - only the Fishers: George, Eleanor, Hilda, and Maude and vaguely their parents.
Can't remember Goodacres' Camp, or diving raft at our place but do remember Bernice and Bertha and Ida.

Margel's Notes

Remember the "old Bell" and how boats left docks to come and have waffles and syrup. Remember Vin's fly wheel ripping off a girl's skirt. Walter Stedman was a friend of Vin's, I remember the excitement of the Pileated Woodpecker - he didn't stay around for very long. Remember Fritz Cameron - a roly poly friend of Gladys.

1920 Notes

July 14, 1921

Capt. Alvin Lodge has again distinguished himself, this time as a detective. Some time on the night of July 5th, the motorboat "Gatling Gun" disappeared from the Eagle Lake Hotel boat landing. Since there was no wind that night, it was supposed to have been stolen. A private detective brought from New York to investigate the case, counceled secrecy and after a careful investigation deduced that the boat had been towed to the bridge, loaded on a wagon or truck and removed to another lake. A search of all lakes within a radius of twenty miles revealed no trace of the missing boat. The imported sleuth then induced Mr. Madson, the hotel proprietor, to procure a "blanket" search warrant and request the presence of a squad of state police. while a search of various buildings in this part of the township was instituted. In the meantime Capt. "Cork" Lodge and First Mate C. W. Harris were carrying on an independent investigation. This included the bottom as well as the shores of the lake. The "Gatling Gun" was finally located unharmed in a disused bathhouse about a hundred yards from the hotel. It is thought that whoever took the boat wished to collect the reward offered for its distruction by one of the cottagers because the terrifying and eratic explosions disturbed his philosophic calm.

We all like to go to the Eagle Lake postoffice because Mr. Luthy is honorary assistant postmaster, of course Please have mercy on the Spring dock, Mr. Alden.

It is hoped the young men from Ticonderoga will not repeat their patriotic demonstration of the Fourth. They disturbed several philosophic calm and caused a lot of sputtering.

Mrs. Luthy's pet woodchuck is still eating flowers in spite of the efforts of Boob McNutt.

Miss Bertha Sartwell wishes there was a bounty on porcupines. Her record is 13 1/2 to date.

The Bolsheviks wish to apologise to Mr. Luthy. They intended to blow up "Billie's Bungle," but the bomb was misplaced in the dark.

There is very little excitement on the lake this year. No pep a-tall.

Mrs. Dan Wells and son of Igersa spent Sunday with Mrs. Arthur Wells. There have had very hard thunder storms in the past week but no serious damage was done except at Lewis Falls. There the lightning came down on the telephone wire and the water was grounded in the water. It split the barrel in two and cut the water pipe off next to ground. Mr. Whitney had a bottle of medicine hanging in the house to keep cool and it broke that Mr. Whitney found his medicine bottle. Henry Cutrer received a blow to the head when the barrel at the water pipe was about a foot high.

July 13—The long delayed but much looked for rain came at last. The ground was thoroughly soaked by the drizzling showers of Saturday and Sunday night. Owing to the long drouth the hay crop will be a very light one this year. Corn is very forward and bids fair to be a bumper crop. Potatoes are looking much better since the rain. Mrs. D. H. Snel and two little boys are again guests at Brookside farm. Walter Collins went to Fort Edward last week. John F. Nichols is having his house newly painted. Wm. H. Clark of Elizabethtown is visiting the brush. Chas. Guy called at J. D. Richard's yesterday. Miss Hilda Nichols was home from Plattsburg for a few days. Mrs. Rachel Kingman of Westport is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ben Morean. Elwin Collins, who was ill for several days, has returned to his work in Underwood. Chas. One of the most severe storms ever known in this locality visited this town last Sunday evening. Several buildings in the village were struck by lightning, accompanied by a down-pour of rain, which lasted all during the night, sometimes amounting almost to a cloudburst. Levi Olden has opened the Fair View House on the Grove Point road as a first class boarding and rooming house. John Wolfe of Brooklyn is spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Caroline Wolfe, at her cottage on Baker St. Harry Mackenzie was recently called to town, owing to the illness of his father, W. R. Mackenzie. Mrs. Thatcher and sons of Dayton, Ohio, are in town for the summer months. A new fruit and vegetable stand has been opened next door to Subland's drug store. Two members of state constabulary have been stationed at Schroon Lake for the summer. Mrs. Elizabeth Smith has again opened her cottage on Upper Main street after spending several months with her daughter, Mrs. Carrie Bradley, of Hartford, Conn. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mousaw are home again after a week's visit at the home of Mr. Mousaw's parents in upper St. Lawrence county. The program at the Strand for Saturday, July 16th, includes Tom Mix in "The Unlabeled," also comedy. This is one of Tom Mix's mile a minute pictures, a thrilling tale of the West, of whistling Dan of the untamed soul, of the mighty stallion Satan, king of the ranges, and the devil dog to whom their master's word is the only law. This is Mix at his best in his most startling picture. SPECIAL NOTICE — Beginning next week Monday, July 18th, the Strand theatre will open four nights a week during the summer—Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The program for Monday, July 18th, includes the Metro special, "The Saphead," starring Wm. H. Crane and Buster Keaton, also comedy. The program for Wednesday, July 20th, includes "Trumpet Island," a super feature in every sense of the word, spectacular scenes that are unsurpassed, a thrilling story by Gouverneur Morris made into a superb production by director Tom Terriss. A sport pictorial will also be shown. The program for Friday and Saturday, July 22 and 23, includes the smashing melodrama "Outside the Law," starring Priscilla Dean and Lou Chaney. Here, without doubt, is the biggest picture of the year. A picture that was six months in the making, a picture that broke all records in every theatre yet shown, a picture so big that the Strand is showing it two days so that everyone may see it. The most powerful production the screen has yet produced.

July 25 -- Last Thursday night while the Harris family were at Ticonderoga this cottage was burglarously entered. The motive for this act of lawlessness is in doubt, as nothing but a volume of current fiction was taken. The piano, however, showed rough usage. The large track of a woman's foot and finger prints are clues which may bring about the arrest of the offenders.

The motorboat "Gatling Gun,, again wake the echoes of the lake on Sunday. The following suggestions for abating this nuisance are made:

Injunction -- by our legal light.

Dynamite -- by the Bolchiviks.

Sinking -- by the calm and quite lovers.

The captain of the boat settled the matter by breaking a spark plug while fighting off pirates.

The horseback craze has hit the lake and the surrounding country is being searched for saddle horses. One big gray horse has shown Miss Ruth Alden how hard the ground is. Miss Alden does not seem so spry the last day or two. The horse has been sent back to its owner.

Inasmuch as ye do it unto the least of these ye do it unto me, seems to be a sort of forgotten text by many of our townswomen, for besides the hostess, Mrs. Ellis, there were but six present at Tuesday's meeting. Mrs. Madama Cook, Knight, Bartholomew, Prouty, Moses and Miss Tefft. Nearly all of those ladies left work undone and worked faithfully for the needy and one Edy Mrs. Knight, walked about two miles, i. e., considering both ways. If I could impress upon you how much we need your helping needle I fancy you would all be present next Tuesday at Mrs. Carlton Cook's. As we sew up on the piazza you will get as much air as if at home and be doing a whole lot more good. The children we sew for are in need, the mothers have their hands full feeding them, without sitting up these hot nights sewing for them. We can use almost every kind of clothing—skirts or dresses whose waists are gone—will make a nice dress for some little one, discarded underclothes we can do up and send for them. Any thing you don't want bring to Mrs. Carlton Cook's next Tuesday afternoon. Come as early as possible and be sure to bring thread, needle and thimble. Everybody welcome.

FIREMEN REPLY TO CRITICISM OF CARNIVAL

Noting the items in the South Ticonderoga column of The Sentinel last week regarding the Carnival held for the benefit of the Jeffers Hose Co., we have decided that it is about time for the Fire Department to declare themselves against some of these so-called reformers.

The Jeffers Hose Company is a volunteer organization. They volunteer their services to protect public property and in so doing, without thanks or reward, often times risk their health and even life itself.

Who bought the fire department property? What paid for it? Who keeps it in repair? These three questions can be answered in three words: Jeffers Hose Company. They did it by hard and energetic work by giving the people something for their money.

A short time ago the writer of the above article was loud in her criticism because of failure of fire apparatus to properly function when her neighborhood property was in danger. Now she is as loud in her criticism when we are striving to raise funds with which to keep it in repair, claiming the Carnival to be a public nuisance and a menace to the youth of our town.

In our opinion, it is not the Carnival that is a menace or nuisance but some of these ladies who write for the sake of seeing their name in print and who are striving to elect themselves as members of the town board. We believe the town board perfectly capable of reading the paper and of managing their affairs without female assistance.

Regarding the claim that the town board knew nothing of the coming of the Carnival to this town, we wish to state this is an untruth and would advise the writer, before criticizing to know a little more of what she is writing as in our opinion her items than the Carnival.

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

1921 Notes

July 27, 1922

We are glad to welcome the Rogers and Watsons as land owners and the Minsters Buechners, Goodacres, Greenmanns Mosses and Thompsons as guests.

Recent visitors to Touchstone camp have been Miss Maude Ludington, tennis champion; Miss Fredericka Cameron, bridge fiend; Harry I. Winters, the silent Camera maniac; Miss Marjorie Williamson, Ronald Lodge, Miss Gertrude Bantham and Richard Getmann.

Mr. and Mrs. Krumb of Albany have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Luthy at Ednet Lodge and later guests are the Rattermanns.

The hotel has blossomed out with a strong force of company -- among them the renowned "Peaches and Cream."

Why the sudden "Sheik" of Bob's costume? We hope he will soon be looking "holesome" again.

We have long been anticipating the arrival of a movie fan and we are greatly disappointed to find that he has been in our midst for no less than three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fischer nearly joined Litchfield as a canoe capsized near Schmidlapp's Rocks. Death would have been due more to hysterics than drowning.

Captain Cork's hydroplane has been remodeled and now surrounds itself with a smoke-screen when in action to prevent the irate land owners from firing upon it.

A thirty foot tripod has been erected on the north shore for the purpose of killing off all the fresh divers. We fear it will horizontalize its perpendicularity.

Warning! Telephone installed at Bedlam Point.

The postoffice has been installed and now the mail is stalled in.

Those who take stock in Eagle Lake have noticed a great rise and fall in water.

Those wishing to buy stock in onions, lettuce or muddy water at Cherry Creek apply to the "Onion King" upon his return to Bedlam Point.

We hope Mr. Fitzgerald will serve cherries from Athens as well as he has served tennis balls here.

If patience is a virtue the fishermen of this lake will surely pass Saint Peter.

We wish Maxim would make a silencer for Messrs. John and Dance Hall.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, we have caused the seal of our said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed.

The annual camping bug strikes a few comfort seekers, but all signs of comfort are removed by mosquitoes.

The farewell to the Fishers was conspicuous through the lack of adornment by tin cans and perplant bouquets. This is unprecedented in the departure of any important personage.

All who ate the Anderson's fish hope they will return again next year.

It has just been disclosed that a historic landmark was destroyed last summer through the dastardly act of some well known Fourth of July celebrator. Probably the scratch made by this destructive blast will be pointed out by the owner of the land as one made by a Revolutionary bullet.

Green Ledge, like all green things, has grown up, and has a water system. So be a sport and take your "Daily Dosen" at the pump.

The lake is too dull for certain gay birds.

Mrs. Luthy and Mr. Lodge spent part of the week in New York.

Jeff had better take out burglary insurance, as good looking canoes are a scarcity on the lake.

The movie fan has turned out to be a dance maniac also.

Daddy Jack is in our midst, to say nothing of Mrs. Parker.

It is very unwise to hold consultations with your bootlegger over the telephone.

The morals of the young people of the lake will be corrupted if the points of the hotel pen remain crossed.

The old timers of the lake are distressed over the serious illness of Mrs. Plunghe and hope for her quick recovery.

Several people went to Mt. Iola Monday after blueberries. They came back with a few berries and much water.

There is warm competition between Ford owners of this vicinity for the worst looking and most troublesome Lissie. Harris' takes the prize for looks and the hotel's for motor condition.

Jimmie prefers driving a baseball to pushing a Ford.

The 16th annual meeting of the (Eagle) Chilson Lake Property Owners' Assn. will be called on Saturday, Aug. 5th, at "Ednet" Lodge, Eagle Lake, Essex county, N.Y., at 2 p.m.

If you call for a hot dog at the hotel, why do you get hash?

August 10, 1922

Quite a sensation was created on the lake when an outfit resembling Barnum and Bailey's circus established itself in Alonson Moore's pine grove. After the Monday investigators, expecting to find cages overturned and wild animals at large, were surprised to find a group of cordial campers and instead of wild animals a fine catch of wily Eagle Lake pickerel, formerly renowned but now so elusive.

Among the campers at Pine Grove is Miss Georgeine Avery of Troy, who has sung for the Victor Co. and was the first person to sing from coast to coast by radio. Others are Dr. A. T. Sitterly, mayor (?) of Burnt Hills, and his wife and son, Malcolm Ingram of Albany and N.V. Lascher of Fultonville.

Hotel kitchen raided as birthday celebrators confiscate all tinware, including Bob's Ford. After a short tuning up at the hotel they tooted to Luthy's, where the ovation continued until outclassed by the Boom Bos.

Mr. Wemple imported a neat chest of wholly worms from Schenectady. After being served breakfast at the hotel, the worms, accompanied Messrs. Wemple and Crapp to a "Pair a dice" where they caught twenty-two fish which, when skinned, supplied breakfast for all. (Just a little crap game.)

Irate fisherman to proprietor of hotel. "Your boats rows too heavy."

Small boy, having witnessed arrival of fisherman. "You bet, Prop., with an anchor dragging behind."

Beau Brummel paid the lake a flying visit last week end and his elder brother is expected this week.

Not since the days of the seven keys has the Eagle Lake hotel seen so much business. All approve of the new management.

In a recent baseball game Miss Eleanor Fischer knocked a ball that would make Babe Ruth look sick. (You bet it would.) Roy: has nothing on Lloyd. (Not Harold).

Inquiries respecting the situation of the lake's historic landmark may be addressed to Ednet Lodge.

Rogers' new boat experienced the roughest trip of its young life when it rode up Chilson Hill.

The annual meeting of the Eagle Lake Property Association was held Saturday at two o'clock at Ednet Lodge. This organization has for sixteen years been endeavoring to regulate the affairs of the lake. Such an organization needs the active support of all land owners and the cooperation of everybody. For information as to membership consult the secretary, Edmond O. Luthy. Only by full attendance of all members and universal interest from all good Eagle Lakers can personal grudges be obliterated.

Why Tea May Be Harmful.

Tea seems a harmless enough beverage;... yet if it is made wrongly, or...
drunk to excess, it can be a slow but...
deadly poison.

Its stimulating effects are due to the... presence in tea leaves of a powerful... drug called theine. If the pot is not... allowed to stand too long, only a... small quantity of this substance is...
dissolved out of the leaves by the hot... water, and the tea refreshes us without... doing any harm. When the tea-pot is... allowed to remain for hours on the...
hob, an excessive quantity of theine is... extracted from the leaves, together with...
a larger amount of another semi-poisonous...
substance known as tannin.

These two together form a real...
poison, affecting the nerves, the digestion... and the general health. Stewed...
tea is almost as harmful as opium or... cocaine. The habit of taking it to...
this way, is soon formed, and the tea...
"drunkard" thinks nothing of consuming...
twenty or thirty cups a day.

Why a Universal Alphabet.

It has been suggested that there be... called an international conference on...
the adoption of a universal phonetic... alphabet. It is thought that the Roman... alphabet should serve as the basis, but...
that slight modifications should be... made in the forms of the letters... which would not interfere with their...
legibility to anyone familiar with them...
in their present shapes, in order that... there be indicated the precise sounds... for which they stand. Such an alphabet... it is maintained, would enable...
anyone to pronounce correctly at a... glance the words of a foreign... language, because the spelling, apart... from a few special sounds would be... the same as in his own language. There...
is said to be no language...
hindered by its spelling as the English.

New Wood Rot.

Decay of wood is caused by living... vegetable organisms known as fungi. The... microscopic seeds or spores of these...
wood destroyers are produced in...
countless numbers from the mushrooms... or mold-like growth which appears on... rotten wood, says the American...
Forestry Magazine of Washington. Being... easily disseminated by the wind they...
are present everywhere, and decay...
which seems to spring up spontaneously... really only occurs where the spores...
have found favorable conditions.

MINERVILLE ORIGINATED LABOR DAY

With seven years' experience staging community celebrations which please the public, Minerville plans for the very greatest possible enjoyment for all on Labor day this year.

Another of the big community fairs will be offered. Floral hall, with its various exhibits, prize animals and poultry. Music by two bands, and one 20 piece orchestra. Ball games both morning and afternoon by Minerville's all home team which so far has suffered no defeat this summer. Land sports for liberal prizes, and the gale water festivities at the Community swimming pool; motion pictures followed by a dance to Memorial hall in the evening. An entrance prize of one barrel of flour to the person holding the lucky number. These are some of the features which people enjoy and which will be a part of Minerville's Labor day program.

The automobile parking space, the refreshments, a complete line of which will be served throughout the celebration, the neighborly spirit for which the mining town is noted will make Minerville a favorite spot for all who wish an all-round pleasure resort on the last grand holiday before winter.

The admission prices are reasonable. Fair grounds, 25 cents. Motion pictures, 5, 10 and 20 cents. Dance, 25.00.

Jean's Notes

Touchstone camp was the name of the Lodge's home.
Touchstone camp visitors were friends of Gladys.
Names of Luthy guests mentioned in paragraph 3 are the real names.
Schmidlapp's Rocks is the name of George Conklin's point.
Captain Cork was the name for Alvin Lodge.
Bedlam Point was name for Harris's property.
The Onion King was Pat Harris. He was involved in a disastrous venture in farming near Cherry Creek in western New York state.
Maxim's surname may have been Silencer.

Margel's Notes

Remember Gladys had many friends but the names except for Maude L. and F. Cameron. There was a photographer who did take a movie over at the mine somewhere back of the North Shore, supposed to be a mystery story or something like that.

August 3

Jean's Notes

Fishers were staying at Buechner's cottage "Yo-Ho" which (at that time) belonged to Alanson Moore.
Green Ledge was home of the Rodgers; it now belongs to the Thompsons.
Mrs. Plunghe may have been the name for Mrs. Runghe.
Mt. Iola is another name for Fernette Mt., the hill across the road back of Graham and Jimmy Davis's houses.
Ednet Lodge was the Luthy's house between Spaulding's and Conklin's boathouse.

Margel's Notes

Daddy Jack and Mrs. Parker I think ran the Hotel. Mama was annoyed by Mrs. P. because she was always straightening other men's ties and hugging them if I remember correctly.

1922 Notes

1922 EAGLE LAKE

August 10

Jean's Notes

Alonson Moore's pine grove was between Buechner's house and the road.
Boom Bos was a strange loud 'musical' instrument.

August 17

Jean's Notes

The "fair canoeist" of Paragraph 3 was Gladys Lodge.
Adkins & Scott's was a grocery store in Ticonderoga.
Wickes came from Ticonderoga to a cottage at the west end of the lake.

Margel's Notes

Hurds? I think I remember them. Mr. Hurd had some terrible bone disease. His head was dreadfully misshapen but he was very nice. He referred to me as Junoesque. I wasn't quite sure how to take that. Knowing that Juno was Jupiter's wife and a bit of a bitch. Remember that one of the men at Adkin's who was very nice but he had a very pink skin and thin light hair and the pink showed through - I always called him the "Pink Man."
The Wickes were from Ti - I think their father was a lawyer.

The frantic cries of the owner attracted the ever vigilant Capt. Mr. and Mrs. R. Bunny Lodge and friends spent a noisy Fourth at Outside Inn. A Roman candle duel produced no casualties.

Mr. Mender's new express cruiser, the last running, piloted by Miss Wickes, stuck with terrific force on the submerged bar off Bedlem Point. The frantic cries of the owner attracted the ever vigilant Capt. Cork of the Outside Inn life saving station, who rushed to the spot with equipment for salvaging any parts of the vessel which might be valuable. He was disappointed to find no salvage was necessary as only the propeller was sheered from the shaft. No tug being available the cruiser was laboriously rowed to the repair station. C. C. Alden has arrived.

Statistics show that this has been a record breaking year in the history of Eagle Lake. Two new cottages have appeared on the shores, one being rented by Alanson Moore

All the others cottages are occupied except that of Mr. Watson.

Mr. Glenn: who last year, ran the hotel, is camping on Herbert Moore's property in International Ice Cream tents.

Some people from Schenectady are clearing Birch Point and are greatly improving the surrounding neighborhood in preparation for the erection of a garage. The owners expect to live in tents, pending the construction of a more formidable structure.

In spite of the number of campers at the lake this year, pleasing precautions have been maintained to preserve the public peace. Although the wild animals are numerous, they are not nearly as obtrusive as an extremely limited number of the so called "pets."

The Eagle Lake Inn is being run this year by Miss T. Newhouse of Whitehall.

Herbert Moore has recently replenished his stock of souvenirs and groceries.

Mr. Fillup Space will hereafter write exclusively for the Eagle Lake news.

On Saturday night the occupants of What-is-it camp were scared badly by a large animal. Their screams brought R. Glenn around with a butcher knife and a flash light. After finding the animal with the light, reinforcements in the shape of Lanson Moore and a rifle were brought up. Mr Moore commendable consideration, refused to shoot, but drove the intruder away. He hopes to trap the coon when the fur is prime.

A D. Ford of Buffalo is parked at Papawin.

A great dane has bought Birch Point.

The lake is going to the dogs and insects.

Coons have been entering the Outside Inn chicken coop and have so far relieved the owners of two hens. Traps have been set for the intruders but all the catches have escaped before the proper authorities could be called.

Miss Fisher is two laps ahead in the coffee race. The cornet seems to losing ground.

Capt. Cork had a birthday Saturday. He received gifts from his many admiring friends.

Joseph Feary's son of Albany has been visiting the Jolly Rodgers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Benny Lodge are visiting relatives at Outside Inn. They were driven to the pond by Mr. and Mrs. Cameron of Albany, who are also staying at the Inn.

It's a shame, the amount of powder some city folks waste on woodchucks and the chucks continue to live and grow fat.

The annual meeting of the C. L. P. O. A. was held on the porch of E. O. Luthy's house. The question of lettered camping grounds was broached but no definite decision was reached, although a vigilant committee was formed with a strong arm squad to protect property owners on the lake from all obtrusive campers.

One of the little, (not so very little) Wicks is a bright and shining light on the tennis court.

"Dead Shot Bill" is in our midst. Many woodchucks have passed on recently.

Considering the lawlessness and utter disregard for privacy by obtrusive people, "obtrusive pets" have their value.

Marine traffic regulations will be necessary on one of the densely populated bays of this lake.

Mr. Waitland, alias "Beans," of Boston slid into the water. After changing into his best bib and tucker, he went in again. The remainder of the day he wore a bathing suit.

A dead turtle has been floating majestically up and down the center of the pond. Thank you, Mr. Alden.

Mr. Flock is establishing a fine camping ground, well removed from the road. He offers to furnish hot water and hot times.

Fords wired for eats. Thirteen relatives responded in person. Is thirteen unlucky? What?

A splendid turkey dinner was enjoyed by home of Mrs. Luthy's many friends in honor of her (?) birthday.

How are the mighty fallen? Splash! Mr. Robert Glenn versus Mr. Jack Rattiman.

(Too late for last week)

Mr. Fillup Space's contribution of last week was greatly appreciated and received first place.

R. Bunny Lodge and family left Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ludington and daughter Eleanor of Albany spent the week end at Outside Inn.

We are all delighted to learn that Mrs. Alanson Moore is enjoying better health.

Congratulations are in order...a permanent boarder has arrived at the hotel.

Miss Hilda Fisher and Bill Smith left Sunday night for New York in the "drunk special."

Mr. and Mrs. Boob McNutt and the little Boobs are staying at Outside Inn.

The enthusiasm shown by those who stocked gooseneck with trout was only surpassed by those who did the heavy looking on.

But through my mind tore sights and sounds Rashed swinging roots, fantastical rounds, Tripped pretty girls With pretty curls, Paved music sweet and fair, There rattled fine castles through the air, There trotted fair children, with golden hair, There swelled all day Full many a lay Of sweetest sympathetic song.

But very soon I dream no more— 'After those gooseberries'—to me a poar, Though our rest be over My thoughts still soar As the boys fall into line, 'Those gooseberries have got to be got', Again ere we're reminded of that rest, And my eyes are naught!

There has been a great increase in the herd of Buffalos at the lake this year. Mr. Hurd is partly to blame.

Little George looks down on us once more.

Louise arrived in two parts, herself and better half.

Her brother and Helen Mac Womics also arrived.

Boob McNutt and all attachments have left the Outside Inn for Albany.

Lanson's Ford knows the road so well that it goes out to look for him when he isn't home by midnight.

Lots of chickens here, Mr. Adkins.

There seems to be a keen attraction for Missey Fisher.

The pocket of Alanson's prospective coat has escaped.

The prize uncle arrived in Billie's birthday present.

We wonder if the occupants of the tempermental red canoe, who experimented so extensively in the sucking wind of the narrows, finds it as beneficial as the beauty clay so widely advertised.

Mrs. Newhorse's method -- have your boarders chop the wood.

Max should have a medal: He pulled two pilgrims out of the mud.

The Ruthless arrival of Tomy was remarked with surprise. But "they" arrived next day.

Yes, we have no more woodchucks.

Miss Doris Spitzmiller, another Buffalo, is visiting at Bedlam Point.

There were a number of up-sets on the lake this week. Both boats and stomachs.

Dick the Dude is visiting relatives at "Hedgehog Hangout."

The family of Mrs. Edward Runge of Eagle Lake wishes to thank all the neighbors on the lake and also our friends in Chilson and Paradox for their kind assistance and help in our recent trouble and bereavement. If it had not been for the wonderful help of all our neighbors, we would have been unable to save the house from destruction by fire.

SOUTH SCHROON

Aug. 13—Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Carpenter of Albany came to Mountain View farm for the week end Saturday.

The fair held last Thursday by the Ladies Aid of South Schroon was a decided success. Over one hundred fifty dollars were taken in earnings. Jimmy Richardson, a young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Richardson of said town, is the victim of a dreadful malady—along the side of the bones of his arm. Cummings lot and has had to have his arm taken off to the east of it. That seems too bad and he is to be pitied. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Now that the question of raising the east line of five hundred dollars for the purpose of advertising this town as a summer resort was decided affirmatively at the recent special town meeting let us all bear in mind that there is something to be done besides using printers ink or a painters brush if we expect to flood this town with city people hereafter, and now at the time to begin. We should, in my opinion, all unitedly put forth some effort, and perhaps some sacrifice and personal expense, in every possible way along different lines to make this town attractive. It can be done and should be done or the five hundred dollars voted to be expended in advertising went amount to a few of pipe. Schroon Lake is one of the nicest bodies of water in the Adirondacks, located in exceptionally pleasant scenery, and this section of country would advertise itself and especially so if we do a little boosting. Those having land abutting on the highways, more or less, should cut all brush and weeds back as the law requires, not only once but keep them cut, close to the ground, and August is the month, or best month, to do this work. Once cutting in August is worth half a dozen cuttings in spring or early summer. All half dead scrubby apple trees in sight should be trimmed up or cut down and made into firewood. This would help make it look like a live town instead of one-half dead. Then we should insist on better roads all over the town. Some of the dirt roads through some of the most pleasant drives in the country are a disgrace—narrow and rough. Automobiles are constantly getting stuck in the mud or against rocks and have to be helped out. Such conditions don't help to draw people this way. Next spring clean up, paint up, fix up, grow more flowers, early medium and late blooming varieties. Then we must come down off our high perches, remembering that a two dollar and a half dinner is no drawing card. The aroma from a fifty cent meal will be detected farther than that from one costing twice that amount. People coming to the country place for recreation and health recuperation are not all millionaires. In all of our advertising I think we should not fail to say "Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded." Had I "camp sites to let" I should post a notice that they were free. Several such are between here and Glenn Falls. And then if I could I would furnish such vegetables, milk, eggs, as wished for or ice cream and wouldn't charge twenty-five cents for a five cent cone. They don't do that in some other places. I recall some years ago of cutting a couple of toenails from a hen that was bound to scratch up everything I planted in the garden. She died so much that her gills looked pale. She stopped laying. On another occasion I "soaked" one in a tub of water to break her from setting and I overdone the matter—I "soaked" her a little too much and she stopped laying also. Make your own application. I haven't said anything.

Another thing, there are a lot of unoccupied houses and barns that are rotting and tumbling down—no ornament to any place, and the owners should be made to sell them. If they don't, the town should buy them and tear them down. It is a disgrace to have such a town. We should have a committee to look after these things. We should have a committee to look after these things. We should have a committee to look after these things.

The pocket of Alanson's prospective coat has escaped. The prize uncle arrived in Billie's birthday present. We wonder if the occupants of the temperamental red canoe, who experimented so extensively in the sucking wind of the narrows, finds it as beneficial as the beauty clay so widely advertised.

Mrs. Newhorse's method—Have your boarders chop the wood. Max should have a medal. He pulled two pilgrims out of the mud. The Ruthless arrival of Tommy was remarked with surprise. But "they" arrived next day. Yes, we have no more woodchucks. Miss Doris Spitsmiller, another Buffalo, is visiting at Bodiam Point. There were a number of upsets on the lake this week. Stomachs and stomachs. Dick the Dude is visiting relatives at Hedgehog Hangout. The family of Mrs. Edward Runge of Eagle Lake wishes to thank all the neighbors on the lake and also our friends in Chilton and Paradox for their kind assistance and help in our recent trouble and bereavement. If it had not been for the wonderful help of all our neighbors, we would have been unable to save the house from destruction by fire.

Almost everybody is wishing for rain and it surely is badly needed.

Last week it was my privilege to go from here by auto through Schroon, North Hudson, Elizabethtown, Keene, Jay and so on to Ausable Chasm, and is a couple of days I made another trip to Ticonderoga, Hague, Silver Bay, Horicon, Graphite, Chester, town, Pottersville and home again.

While enjoying the grand mountain scenery I also took in the condition of the farm crops as seen from the D. highway. Oats that were not harvested, were as a rule very short and corn seemed doomed to failure unless frost holds off unusually late, and even then it cannot be an average crop. Field after field was so badly rolled and dried up that it seemed past all possibility of amounting to much, and in some fields showing a fair growth of stalks I could see stalks and stalks without a silk or sign of an ear on them.

The outlook for potatoes was still worse. In all this distance traveled, I never saw a good thrifty looking field, the tops were small and in some places turning yellow, presumably from drouth. Good soaking rains right away might save the late planted, a few fields of which I noticed being in Spiritualistic seances are all right, but if two and two make four and four and four make eight, why use a Ouija board? Signed Bill and Rip.

The sub-debs of Eagle Lake have been recently entertained on consecutive evenings by the masculine portion of the "Four Hundred."

When two perform their annual ablutions they should be granted privacy, not publicity.

If by any chance a scanner of this column should be interested in the results of the tournament, the score was 6-1, 6-1, 6-4. Does this look like a "life or death" struggle? Isn't green a lucky color?

It is hoped that in the future the champion will receive his cup.

The first thing this week we apologize to all who have suffered from having names misspelled. Don't cuss the typesetter hereafter. The editor of this column takes all the blame, pleading guilty to poor penmanship.

The annual invitation tennis tournament played this week at Bedlam Point court brought to light a future Tilden. Mr. "Rip" Bullen, an experienced tournament player of Schenectady, says that undoubtedly "Rupe" Wickes will be a contender for national honors if properly trained and managed. Mr. Bullen won the hard earned Ivory (soap) cup after a hard fight.

To aid elaborate toilets in preparation for a dance Saturday evening, it was observed certain lovers of terpsichore braved the icy waters armed with soap and brush.

A spiritualistic seance held Saturday night at Bedlam Point, via the Ouija board, had startling results. Better watch your step or the Ouija will tell on you. How about it Bill and Rup?

The "long gent" visitor at the lake indignantly claims to have been bitten three times by the "obtrusive pet." However, the owner of said pet is not worried as the dog shows no signs of poisoning.

Outboard motors are rapidly becoming as pesteriferous on the water as the Fords on the land. It is a pity that the peace and quiet of nature's soothing silence, heretofore one of the greatest charms of our lake, should thus be disturbed.

There is a young man very "Balke"
Who never with ladies will talkee,
No matter how swell,
He'll run just like h--ll,
Whenever they near him do walkee.

An error corrected by request -- Mrs. Jennie Newhouse says "her name is "not" Newhorse, the people chopping wood were "not" boarders but campers, and its no newspaper's business what she does anyhow.

Humiliating indeed, to excited fisherman, supposedly having caught a new species, to have native laconically name it a sucker.

The unknown fish caught by Dr. Garis has been identified as a daco, a mullet, a whitefish, a walleyed pike and an Igknotum Damifino.

(Too early for next week.)

The lake and parents are to be highly honored by a short visit of Miss Ruth Alden and Master Coolidge.

Tante Anna, the long gent, and little sister leave Sunday night on their favorite train, The Drunk Special.

Miss Doris Spitzmiller returns to Buffalo and civilization after a visit at Bedlam Point.

New Yorkers in adjoining parts. Among the latest contributions are stoves from Frank Husselbeck, North Creek, and money from these: Mrs. Lewis M. Palmer, Glens Falls; Mrs. Sarah A. Tante Anna, the long sent, and little sister leave Sunday night on their favorite train, The Drunk Special.

Miss Doris Spitzmiller returns to Buffalo and civilization after a visit at Bedlam Point.

"In Like Time" Mrs. Tomkins Johnson had a fine exhibit of Holstein cattle, which were cared for during the fair by Wallace Johnson, Lyle Johnson and Frank Brock. Ticonderoga was also well represented in the achievement club exhibits, and Mrs. Eva Grammond took first prize on bond and basket work.

Ruey Clark of New York spent the week end with his father, Frank Clark, and family, after winning a race at the Hudson Falls fair last week.

Tableaux I—Leif Ericson discoverer of America, John Temple Graves Jr., and companions, Mildred Clark, Sadie Whittemore, Fannie Evans, Mrs. Frederick Tomkins, Dr. Graunreid Graves.

Tableaux II—George Washington before battle of Valley Forge and the memorable words, "Let us raise the standard to which the wise and honest can repair. The event is in the hands of God."

Tableaux III—Abraham Lincoln. "This government, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people by the people for the people shall not perish from the earth."

The last tableaux summarizing Our America, where "the light which lighteth all the earth was symbolized by statue of Liberty—Miss Fannie Evans.

At the close of the program the assembled guests gathered within doors for a brief social hour. The beautiful moon light evening was all that could be desired for our door pageantry. The characters were very well represented. The singing was particularly enjoyed by those present. Much credit is due Miss Milholland for her work and the songs that she contributed, which showed both training and fine expression.

About forty people from Lewis attended the services at North Ferrisburgh, Vt., Sunday, Aug. 26th. The former pastor of Lewis, Rev. F. H. Hodge, is now pastor of the North Ferrisburgh church that celebrated the fifteenth anniversary the past week. The church was filled with the large audience. Several states, far west and south were represented in the gathering. Solos were given by Mrs. Lillian W. Stetson, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Hodge, organist, and Harry Derby, violinist.

A brief address was made by Hon. John E. Milholland and the sermon by the pastor of the church. At the close of the sermon Mr. and Mrs. Rudmond, over sixty years old, of Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen of North Ferrisburgh, over eighty and the only surviving members of the early North Ferrisburgh church, came forward and were introduced to each other. The service closed with the singing of "God be With You 'Till We Meet Again." Dinner was served near Mt. Philo. Few places can rival the beauty of the scenery across Lake Champlain at this particular place. As the people of the two parishes separated at sunset time it was with the feeling that the day had been one of spiritual uplift and new friends gained.

Mr. and Mr. F. A. Haist were Uncle Foster and Aunt Flo.
Tubbo was name of Alvin's boat.
Outside Inn was the Lodge's house.

Margel's Notes

No comment, only a few memories of names. Don't remember Gladys going to Egypt.

Jean's Notes

Birch Point is across the bay from Harris house, east of Graham Davis.
The Eagle Lake Inn was where the Spaulding apartments now are. The hotel burned in the 1920s.
Herbert Moore's store for souvenirs and groceries was on the north side of the road, about where the other Bob Stevens lives.
Mr. Dane bought Birch Point.

Little George may have been George Fisher.
Miss Doris Spitzmiller was a friend of Margel and Jean Margel and Jean went by canoe to the Runge's. They got there in time to help with a bucket brigade. Old Mrs. Runge died during the fire, probably of heart failure.

Margel's Notes

Again so much is a blur, I remember Doris visiting us but not in connection with the Runge's fire.
As I remember it - no doubt you (i.e. Jean) will have a different story. You heard the phone ringing every ring on the line. When you answered you heard "help, we're on fire" and from the accent you knew it to be the Runge's. I think you stayed for a time to ring other people. I don't know how you got up to Runge's. I think Carl and I jumped into the canoe, and Dad got out the Ford and picked us up on the road or maybe you and I got in the canoe and Carl and Dad went by car. Anyway, Carl and Dad dismantled an iron bed to use as axes and chopped through the roof and got the fire out of the roof. Meanwhile a bucket brigade formed from the dock up to the house. Mr. Luthy was so shocked by the news of poor old Mrs. Runge's death that he kept dipping a bottomless bucket into the Lake watching the water drip out and putting it back for more water over and over again. Meanwhile, enthusiastic helpers were throwing furniture out of the windows, although the fire was out by then. I'm still terrified by the thought of fires to this day as we have thousands of dollars worth of Frank's work in the Studios and one car. All timber buildings.

Jean's Notes

Miss Cowen's house is now Bob and Jane Stevens' house.

Dr. Garis' house is Jane Stevens' house.

Mrs. Burrell was the "well known song Bird of Buffalo."

Fred Hunsdon was from Chilson.

Rupe was Rupert Wickes.

Margel's Notes

Didn't realize that Doris stayed so long. It was great fun having her.

Could 'Gobriel' be one of the Rogers?

I remember the fun we used to have with the Ouija board. Alvin always stayed so late at night that Mama became very annoyed. He confessed later he was afraid to go home by himself.

Can't imagine who Tante Anna, the long gent and little sister are, unless as you suggest the Fischers.

1923 Notes

July 11, 1929

July 7 -- Nearly every cottage here has its power boat or attached motor appliance, and, as fishing has about ceased with Mrs. George Hurd's 9 1/2 pound northern pike catch, summer residents are making this like Lake Placid, where a resident declared with considerable emphasis: "You just want to come here, this summer, why, we've got fifty auto boats on the lake."

The road men are keeping the boulevard in fine condition for auto traffic. It's hard surface does not ruin a new car with tar, as is the case on many of the asphalt highways after their spring top dressing.

The good name of our locality has been injured by the burglaries committed during the early fall. It is said that nearly every cottage was opened and many valuable articles stolen. There felonies have been so frequent and bold that steps are being taken to bring the thieves to justice as soon as possible. One cottage along the highway was entered by parties during the winter by smashing a pane in a window and "lifting" a black bear skin rug, a new axe, blankets and bedding. The burglars carried off their plunder in an automobile going east.

Residents will recall how parties from Warner Hill, who broke into the Fitzgerald and Lodge camps some years ago, got county jail sentences for their felonies. Things have indeed come to such a pass here that there is strong talk of employing detectives to locate these parties and get back their household goods taken during last fall and winter. The camp of Mr. Conkling was broken open early in the fall, the doors being smashed in by the intruders.

Suggestions that a community storage house be built on the premises of an all-the-year resident have already been made by our summer cottagers, who are tired of having their property "pawed over" every winter, as has been the case lately; not only here but in other summer resorts.

Wilson Harris has sailed for Europe for a short stay.

George Fischer, an old time summer visitor, is at Camp Yo Ho on the Moore farm, Moore's Bay, where he and family spent last season, near the Indian Ovens and the well known cave. Mr. Fischer is an accomplished pianist and, with his two brothers, often played in concerts in New York and Brooklyn. He craves to beat Ira Moore's three pound brook trout, caught in Putts Creek last year.

Speaking of trout, some wonderful specimens have been taken lately. The anglers are mum as to location, but there is a guess going that these fish are the result of some recent planting by the Ticonderoga Fish and Game Club in this neighborhood.

Work will soon begin on the new stairway of concrete and the barricade to be erected in front of Arden Lodge. Mr. Clark of Ticonderoga has the contract for the job, it was learned.

Alanson Moore's addition to his combined home and store is much admired and is a general gathering place for the young folks these warm evenings.

Two parties of trout fishing enthusiasts, men and women from Schenectady, stayed at Mrs. Moore's cottage Saturday night. They complained of high water and small fish where they last tried their luck.

William Conklin of Los Angeles, Cal., is making extensive repairs to his large boat house, opposite his camp on Charles Island, and laying boulder walls along the former structure.

Alanson Moore insists that he and Peter Flint managed to land a six pound pickerel in Putts Pond lately, hooked by the latter on a black linen thread line and a minnow hook. There's no doubt about this, either.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace D. Smith, L.
 S. Hemenway and Mrs. Hannah

 Mildred West, daughter of Mrs. Ella
 West of Brant Lake, and Victor Schweither of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C.
 A. Pepper of Horicon at a quiet home wedding at noon, June 29th, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. Attendants were a sister of the bride, Miss Isabel
 West, and a brother of the groom.
 Mr. and Mrs. Schweither left after the ceremony on a three weeks motor trip to the White Mountains, thence to Boston and up the coast of Maine to Nova Scotia. They will reside at Philadelphia, where the groom is connected with the General Electric Works. The bride has been a member of the faculty of the Briar Cliff Manor public schools for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Clark and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Richmond and family and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Moses and family spent Sunday at Camp Albama on Lake George.

An esteemed neighboring townsman recently inquired through the columns of this paper, "why Ticonderoga did not wake up, in reference to the matter of Daylight Saving."
 If that good neighbor spent the 4th of July here, he must have thought the town was quite "awake," especially the farmers and Orange, who carried off all the honors in the parade. Ticonderoga is an agricultural and dairy town, as well as a manufacturing town and the farmers are too wise to their own interests to want Daylight Saving and those of us who are not farmers do not wish to add to the difficulties of our agricultural friends in their battle with the elements while producing food for themselves and the rest of us.

Mrs. Marjorie Peterson has sufficiently improved from her recent severe illness to be able to motor as far as Port Henry this week.

Mrs. Clara Naidment of Hackensack, N. J., a guest at the Seven Maples, where quite a party was entertained over July 4th, including
 Mr. and Mrs. Millard Karker, Miss Helen McCannab and Miss Geraldine
 Ross of Amsterdam, Mrs. Ida Chase and Mr. and Mrs. L. Brundage of Gloversville.

Dean Richmond is remodeling his dairy barn into an up-to-date barn for twenty cows.

The Sewing Sisters Junior Achievement club met with Mrs. Ned Ladd
 Monday afternoon of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stutter of New York and Andrew Gates of Milerva were guests at Mr. and Mrs. Horace D. Smith's recently.

Cyril Seaver of Plattsburg spent some time with Donald A. Durken last week.

Seven bushels of strawberries were picked from Burt Huestis' vines Monday. There is no break between the two crops this year, as the raspberries are ripening fast.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ladd of Port Chester have been visiting their brother, Ned Ladd, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Ladd and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ladd attended a family reunion Sunday at the home of their sister, Mrs. Dana Strong, of Bonson, Vt. They had a picnic dinner at which 26 relatives were present.

Mrs. Alfred Alnes of Shoreham has been visiting Mrs. Howard Brock and family. Mrs. Brock and Mrs.
 Alnes spent the week end at What-lonsburg.

Wesley Swinton of Schenectady spent the week end here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mubler and daughters, Berge and Janice, of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Johnson.

Mrs. Rachab Smith is visiting at John S.—C. J. Mousaw, superintendent of schools, and Principal O. P. Leavitt have gone to attend school at St. Lawrence University at Canton during the summer.

Mrs. Estelle Oliver and Edna Richardson, teachers in our Central school, are at Plattsburg Normal.

Scott Duroso, Dick Drake, Tinker Subriand, Margaret Cornell, Muriel Crear, Doris Russell, Gertrude Jenks and Clara Fairfield went Saturday to the Junior Achievement camp at Westport. Tinker stayed one night, got homesick and came home.

A young son of 10 or 11 years, of the people who have rented the Olden Cottage, was taken this morning to the Morse-Ludington hospital for an operation, probably appendicitis.

We had a narrow escape from a fire Sunday morning about 11 o'clock. It was first discovered in a pile of lumber scraps from building a small lean-to shed at the back of the kitchen. The fire company was called, but the quick work of Levi Olden, the nearest neighbor, with his hose, which he happened to have attached to his water pipe for washing ice, had the fire well under control when the firemen arrived. Very little damage was done.

George T. Bailey, apparently, has the improvements on his house and grounds completed. He is now waiting for the grass to grow.

John Pitkin, who has been at Blue Ridge several weeks, is very much improved—gained 12 pounds in 12 days—this straight from his brother.

(Too late for last week)

July 2—All the campers have arrived in town.

There seems to be more visitors on our streets than residents now. More cottages have been rented than in any previous season.

James O'Connell and family have come to their summer cottage for the season.

The Brown Swan has about 300 guests and the Leland House 75.

E. T. Richardson is laying the foundation for his new house, in the place of the one destroyed by fire about last Christmas time.

It might be of interest and worthwhile to those interested in women's apparel to visit the Stanton Smart Show. Mrs. Stanton has sure dressed it up in style.

Divina Kerat and bride returned home from their wedding trip last Thursday.

The barn on the D. L. Weeks place is being razed. It was probably one of the oldest buildings, and was erected by Thomas Leland, one of the earliest inhabitants of the town.

Rev. Worden, former pastor of the M. E. church, and Mrs. Worden were visitors in town a few days last week.

NORTH TICONDEROGA

July 9—The Juvenile Grange were the winners of the fifty dollar prize given for the best float in the 4th of July parade. The float represented the Juvenile Grange Fire crackers. The idea was carried out by five huge fire crackers at the rear of the float, the fire crackers being of barrel size, covered first with white cotton cloth and then in red crepe paper. Instead of being filled with ordinary fire cracker material, these were filled with the five boys who hold offices in the Juvenile Grange, their heads appearing over the tops of the big fire crackers. The boys were Floyd Denmore, Paul Huesels, George Charbonneau, Herford Thompson, Jr. and Francis Poirer. The motor truck used for the float was beautifully covered and decorated and four little girls in white dresses, most artistically grouped, added much to the general effect. The girls were Mabel Ladd, Regina Peasley, Vera Thomas and Betty Denmore. Those who decorated the float were Mrs. Mayne Catlin, patron of the Juvenile Grange, Mrs. Westill Denmore, assistant patron, Mr. Denmore, Mr. Catlin, Miss Elsie Catlin and Mr. and Mrs. George Price.

Wallace P. Johnson drove a very handsome float in the parade, which represented the Lodge-Ever Farm.

A very pretty pageant was given Sunday afternoon at the Street Church in observance of Children's Day.

Ticonderoga Grange and the Juvenile Grange will meet Thursday evening of this week.

All the boat fishermen here have to bow to the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Runge of New York. This juvenile angler coaxed her folks into giving her a baited hook and line which she attached to a bamboo pole and set it at the end of a small pier at the east side of her home on Fox Island. Upon her return she found a great fish placidly tethered to the far end of the line. Her scream of delight attracted older attention and Glee was soon the proud captor of a four pound large-mouth black bass: A case of regular kid luck.

Inquiries made of the Conservation Commission by a resident here how best to conserve our fish supply has resulted in a personal reply from Chief Llewellyn Legge, of the Department of Fish and Game, in which he states that Eaglu Lake and similar waters in this vicinity are best suited for yellow perch, black bass and sun fish. He doesn't favor planting trout of any kind in these waters. Brought to his attention that thousands of perch are taken in winter by ice auger borings through the ice, enabling fishermen from all over the county to take as many of these valuable fish as they like at a time when the females are full of eggs for the spring spawning period, this official suggested that upon application to the commission by those interested a hearing could then be had upon evidence submitted and a ruling be issued that fishing through the ice be prohibited in order to restore the former good summer fishing conditions. The matter is now before the local Property Owners' Association for immediate action.

Commander Louis Wilson, Bishop U. S. N., retired, who is spending his second annual vacation at Deerland, Long Lake, motored here with friends Wednesday to visit his cousin, Mrs. Peter Flint, at Arden Lodge, and also Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Luthy. Commander Bishop has recovered from a fever contracted at Mamilla, P.I. in the Spanish War, during an entire summer spent at Eagle Lake. He was accompanied Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Hollenback and Miss Isabel Cheever of Brooklyn, all of whom have been former summer residents here, and by Mrs. Warner of New Orleans, La. Dr. Bishop was commanding surgeon on the famous Battleship Texas and in active service abroad during the World War. He was aboard the battleship which brought the lamented President Harding to San Francisco just before the latter's death.

Residents here are much pleased with the very careful attention paid by the Schroon stage to our errands entrusted to its care, as well as for the prompt delivery of our mail bags and parcel post packages.

STREETROAD

July 28—Rev. O. C. Cornell is away on his vacation and the church will be closed for the next four Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wheeler of Fort Aen called on his mother, Mrs. Alice Wheeler, Sunday.

Mrs. Morrell-Loucks and daughter Virginia and Miss Eleanor Westfall returned to their homes in Saratoga recently, after spending a week with Mrs. Loucks' aunt, Mrs. W. W. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Vetter have returned from Horicon, where they were called by the illness and death of his mother, Mrs. William Vetter.

Through the many weary months of his suffering he kept the same brave front. Trying to meet the inevitable ending with courage; speaking comforting words to his loving family, who cheerfully waited upon him night and day during all that time, aided by his son-in-law, Elwynne McKinstry. Thus, when his sun had set, his family did not mourn him as one without hope, but they mourned him as a kind father, a loving husband, a true Christian and a really brilliant man, for he was well informed upon not only the Bible and topics of the day, but history and various other subjects. He just lived as one who feared not death, for that is naught but suspended breath; then up and away, across the bar, where parents and other loved ones are! Aye, up and away, it is not far, where he is shining, another star.

Rev. and Mrs. Finley motored from Valley Falls, as Rev. Finley was a former pastor, Rev. Cornell invited him to speak and he delivered a very comforting sermon to the bereaved ones.

Other friends and relatives came from far and near to pay their last sad tribute to a highly esteemed man. The floral offerings were many and very beautiful and the long line of cars spoke mutely of the many friends who were loth to part with their loved one. He was laid to rest in our beautiful Valley View cemetery with appropriate words by Rev. Cornell.

Notwithstanding the shower and heat, there were twenty-odd boys from Camp Ticonderoga who listened to the fatherly words of Rev. W. P. Harrison as he spoke of the nearness of the Saviour, even when perhaps we were taken up with too many other things to sense that nearness; but he was there, ready to help in time of need, always there. It was a most comprehensive sermon, couched in language that none could fail to understand, although it showed much study of the Bible and much research. Instead of dry facts, it was made clear and interesting. We blessed the young girls, who, owing to the shower and wet trees and graves, were unable to attend. But Miss Crabb represented them and sang most sweetly. Miss Gladys Daniels at the organ. Rev. Harrison and Messrs. L. P. Perry, Frank Locke and Riley Hatcom, with their fine male voices to swell the music rendered by the Camp Ticonderoga boys, one would go far indeed to find such melody as we listen to each Sunday.

Master Billy Bryan, who has been spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Luther Stokes, returned to Camp Kickab Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Severance and son and granddaughter from North River or vicinity were callers at Mrs. Cornelia Arkerman's Sunday.

Billy Bryan received the shocking news Friday that his pal and lifelong friend, Harry Mendon, had passed away in a Springfield hospital from a ruptured appendix. He made many friends here during his yearly visits at Camp Kickab, who extend heart felt sympathy to the bereaved parents because of the passing on of this our young Christian boy, who was their only son.

Music lovers here will be attracted by a remarkable concert to be given Thursday night, Aug. 24th, at Crown Point high school auditorium by two talented young artists 20 years of age, Robert Tormey, violinist, of Crown Point, and his friend, Stanley Hummel of Albany. Having heard these two performers at their memorial first concert, given in the old brick church at Hammonds Corners, Crown Point in August, 1927, attended by scores of people from Port Henry and elsewhere, I can assure those wishing to hear both violin and piano played in a masterly fashion that they will be repaid fully for even a long journey to listen to the wonderful program of classical and popular high grade music offered by these two musicians. Tickets can be secured by writing Mr. Tormey at Crown Point, where he is spending his vacation. He was for several years a pupil of Miss Corrine Flint, the violinist at Port Henry, and lately has continued his studies with Prof. Hummel, father of the pianist assisting at Crown Point Aug. 24th.

Eagle Lake is honored by the presence of a student who is now writing a sonatine for flute and piano. This young gentleman, Mr. Slaver of Albany, is a visitor at the residence of Wilson Harris, Mooer's Bay, and is to enter Harvard University in the fall. The manuscript of his sonatine was read over with him on the flute by Peter Flint at the Harris residence Saturday night, who also played a number of other compositions with this talented young composer. The work follows the modern French school in its several movements and is very pleasing.

A number of members of the American Legion and their families living in the Hill country will attend the tenth anniversary "doings" in honor of that event at Port Henry, August 14th, followed by a dance in the high school auditorium in the evening. A celebrated dance orchestra will provide music, coming from New York in autos over the Whitehall road, starting from New York early in the morning and expecting to make the run in record time.

The ancient highway leading from the "Corduroy road" to Paradox head and passing through the old deserted Burgley at Flemming Pond, has been put into good shape by the town of Crown Point. The Schroon end of it, beginning at Lee Knowlton's farm, is still in its former bad condition, rough and stony in places, yet passable by autoists using care. When Schroon wakes up to its obvious duty, the two towns will have a most interesting highway on the north side of Eagle Lake, passing both the Hunter and Cowan estates. The first car to make tracks on the new portion was driven by William Lodge one afternoon last week. He had with him, besides his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Flint of Arden Lodge, Eagle Lake. The 20 mile trip included the Corduroy road to Ironville (Penfield) then over the so-called "Hogback" highway and North road by the old Sage place and a headquarters for deer hunters, to the Flemming Pond road and so back to "Touchstone," Mr. Lodge's residence.

There's an old pond south of here containing pike of great size. A local sportsman, using a rotten old raft cruised over it last week, casting a small spoon from time to time from his unusual craft. As he reached for it, holding his steel rod, the usual thing happened and that 8 pounder is still any one's game. Out with his shotgun, a big "blue darter" hawk dashed by making for a thicket. Quick as a flash the "sixes" followed it into the leafy refuge. The goshawk had in its talons a live partridge as it lay there on the ground, a tribute to the hunter's marksmanship.

Preparations are under way for a reunion of members of the Ticonderoga Chapter Sons of the American Revolution's 20th anniversary at a camp on Eagle Lake, August 20th. PUBLIC OPINION

Ticonderoga, N. Y.

Aug. 7, 1929.

Editor, Ticonderoga Sentinel.

Ticonderoga, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

It seems a shame that the fans do not support the Ticonderoga Baseball Team.

We have a fine club this summer, composed of all local boys who have won ten out of the eleven games played. These games have been with the leading clubs of this section, and have been real baseball games, deserving the support of the fans in general.

In the past, when we have had paid teams, the business men and others donated money and paid enough at the gate to enable large guarantees to visiting teams and generous salaries to the players, and it does not seem hardly fair for the local boys, who are really interested in Ticonderoga, to have to dig into their own pockets to pay current expenses, such as visiting teams, ground upkeep, base balls, etc., especially when they are giving us a brand of baseball equal to any we have had here in some time.

All that is necessary to remedy this deplorable condition is a better attendance at the games and the moral support of local baseball fans. Let's get out and help the boys. They deserve it and they are earning it.

Trusting that you will put this matter before the public through the medium of your paper, I am,

Yours very truly,

Fau.

Mr. W. R. Tefft, Editor,

The Ticonderoga Sentinel.

Ticonderoga, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Today I chanced to read the letter of E. J. M. concerning the establishment of public bathing facilities for the town of Ticonderoga.

When the question of the establishment of a golf course was before the public some years ago, I took the liberty to write to some of the moving spirits to suggest to them that a public recreation, golf and play ground with bathing facilities would be needed for Ticonderoga, and at that time called their attention to then in the possession of Mr. Weed, and since has been purchased by Senator Ferris and Mr. Jeffers, I believe. I offered the property to the people of Ticonderoga at a price which I would not consider at this time, and which is evidence that real estate on Lake George is becoming more valuable and more difficult to acquire. It seems too bad that the people of Ticonderoga can not see the wisdom of securing a play-ground of this sort soon.

Since the purchase of the Black Point Farm I have been chosen to head the largest and one of the oldest camps in New England, hence my interest in the farm as a boys camp has been removed, at least for the present. However, as a member of the N. C. B. A., who has visited and studied camps in nearly every state in the east, I was not aware when I purchased it of its natural adaptation for recreation purposes.

There are between 200 and 250 acres of land, eighty-eight acres available, the proper acreage for a golf course. The soil is loamy at the north and clay at the south. The clay soil lends itself admirably to the building of tennis courts and the level ground could easily be converted into a beautiful ball park. The mountain land at the back is attractively situated for mountain climbing, horse back riding, trap shooting and many other sports in which people are interested. A spring on the mountain side delivers an abundance of water at the present time, and its supply, by a very small investment, could be increased. There is nearly 2000 feet of shore frontage. The bay at the north would readily lend itself to the establishment of motor boating in the summer and to winter sports in the winter. The farm house could easily be converted into an excellent club house. As I view the property on Lake George adjacent to Ticonderoga, I do not know of a property which lends itself so readily to the general need of all people for varied forms of recreation.

There are many of us who will remember the old parties to Black Point and what long tedious journeys they were in the hay racks of yesterday. Today, with modern transportation and the excellent roads which have been provided of the approaches to Scott Bros Construction Co., Inc., of Rome, N. Y. Subsequently the contract for electrical installation was awarded to Alvin K. Bennett of Crown Point and the contract for the construction of the dwelling, office and toll collectors' booth to Charles E. Malone of Port Henry.

Actual construction was started within two weeks after the contracts were awarded. The piers were constructed by sinking bulkheads of steel sheet piling, closing upon themselves and thus forming a continuous fence around the site of each pier extending from water level to the ledge rock at the depth of 100 feet. These bulkheads are technically known as cofferdams. After the cofferdams were completed the mud of the lake bed inside each cofferdam was excavated by dredging. Divers then examined the bed rock to insure that its surface was in proper condition to receive and support the concrete foundation of the pier. The concrete of the pier foundations were then placed through the water by means of buckets, the bottoms of which were provided with swinging doors the concrete flowing from these doors when the bucket was lowered to the bottom of the excavation. Engineers claim that the novelty in the construction of the two channel piers lies in the fact that the depth of these foundations 100 feet below water level is probably the greatest yet reached by this means of construction which has been used in numerous bridge foundations.

"Cantilever Method" Used. The creation of the steel superstructure of the bridge, except at the channel spans, was carried out by supporting the steel work partly on the masonry piers and partly upon temporary wooden trestle bents driven to bed rock between piers. Each timber bent was placed crosswise of the bents and its length was sufficient to support the two trusses of each span. At the main channel span, however, it was not possible to use this temporary wooden trestlework for the support of the steel as the water was too deep.

this year. Since that time sub-contractors for electrical installation, roadway and dwelling have completed their contracts.

The toll rates have been established at the bridge of $1.00 for a passenger automobile, including driver and any number of passengers, with proportionate rates for trucks, buses and other vehicles.

The bridge itself is located on historic ground which has been famous together with Fort Ticonderoga, America's greatest historical shrine, about eight miles to the south, from Colonial days. The New York terminus is in the Crown Point Reservation wherein are the ruins of Fort

St. Frederic and Fort Amherst, dating from the Revolutionary or post-Revolutionary period, as well as the Champlain Memorial Lighthouse, dedicated in 1889 in honor of the discoverer of the lake. This reservation is being developed as a public park, many hundreds of acres in extent, with bathing facilities, recreation pier and other attractions. At Chimney Point at the Vermont end of the bridge there still stands the old French fort built in 1733, and now used as a residence which became famous during the Revolutionary War as the place where Ethan Allen planned the capture of Fort Ticonderoga.

The Ticonderoga chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, held a social meeting at Arden Lodge, Tuesday afternoon and evening, Aug. 20th. The guests, members of the society and their families, numbered about 50 persons, arrived about 5 p.m., and their cars were parked from the lodge entrance nearly to the causeway. The visitors were received by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Flint of Schenectady and preparations for a good time were soon under way. A great fire was lighted in the wide stone fire place in the living room. while the various committees appointed for the tasks of husking corn, cooking frankforters and making coffee were busily engaged. The "foresters" hewed down mighty saplings of oak and ash, whittling out roasting sticks for the roasting ears of corn. The evening was cool and all preparations for the coming feast were carried on within doors. Many took in the intimate five-mile mountain ranges to the west, across the placid island studded lake. The invitations issued to camp by Secretary Kirby Wilcox contained the following the following comprehensive and appetising stanza:

"Bring your appetites,
Bring a joke,
Tell a yarn
And bring your smoke.
Corn on the cob,
And "dogs" without hair
Will be roasted in the fire place,
So be sure to be there."

The living room was ample to take care of the large party and do the meat cooking, while the fire place was crowded with corn roasting fans. The entertainment, in charge of President Henry Haveland, opened with singing of "America," led by True Helms playing the clarinet. This was followed by an old fashioned quadrille, prompted by E.C. D. Wiley, a veteran Eagle Lake camper, who also contributed some amusing yarns. A duet for saxophone and flute, "Just a Song at Twilight," was greatly enjoyed by assembly joining melodiously in the chorus, led by these two strangely different instruments. By request Mr. Flint then played "Tourments Adorablee," a gypsie waifs song by the late famous tenor, Enrico Caruso, and as an encore rendered the original New Orleans "Jba." The speaker of the evening was Isaac A. Serven, an ex-president of Captain Godwin Chapter, S.A.R., of Paterson, N.J., a summer visitor at Lake George, who spoke at length of the effort of his chapter to acquire an historical residence at the so called Sterling Mines of New Jersey, where the iron was dug to make the chain across the Hudson River at West Point during the Revolution. The speaker, who is a member of the New Jersey Bar, expressed his delight at the informality and pleasure of the present gathering and complimented the management upon the great success of the affair. Peter Flint spoke of the work of The Sons of Oriskany of which corporation he is secretary, in inducing the state to purchase the Mansionhouse at Little Falls, Herkmer county, from which the famous general by that name marched with 500 Mohawk Militia to the aid of Ft. Stanwix near Rome, N.Y. On the way his entire force was ambuscaded, Aug. 6, 1777, by about 1400 British regulars, Toncs, Hessians and Indian allies. The result of that conflict, the most bloody in the Revolution, made victory at Saratoga possible and caused the first American flag to be waved in token of victory over the British. He spoke of the names of some 250 soldiers in that engagement, including his own ancestors, that had lately been added to those already on the Oriskany Monument. He said that he had been somewhat instrumental in the formation of the Ticonderoga Chapter. W.W. Jeffers expressed the thanks of the chapter to Mr. and Mrs. Flint for their entertainment. The meeting closed with the customary Virginia Reel and farewell song. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Serven, Paterson, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. E.C. D. Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Jeffers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moses, Franklin T. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Myron J. Wilcox, Albert E. Phelps, Crown Point; Mr. and Mrs. Theodora Locke, Eva I. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haviland, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wickes, Luther Moses, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Wilcox.

Tipping Is Bribery

Tipping is a mild form of bribery, and the making of special payments to obtain special services or attention must have been one of the first uses thought of for money, the day after its invention. Doubtless some recipients of gratuities have considered them as something to their misrep- resent, but since many proprietors of restaurants, check rooms and other places pay their employees on a basis which would not enable them to live without tips, these workers are not likely to regard them humbly as acknowledgment of servitude nor gratefully as unexpected rewards for un- usual attention, but rather as their just and rightful due, says a writer in an exchange. Tipping was formerly less common in the United States, and we still have it on authority of the signs in some of the sandwich shops that it is "un-American," but it will doubtless continue to expand itself in this country, although perhaps it will never be regarded as general as in Europe.

How long before all the mail is to be transported by airplane? The question is asked after the publication of figures which show that in two years the volume of American air mail has multiplied fourteen times, says the Oakland Tribune. More than half a million pounds of mail were carried by planes in December of last year. Before all the mail is carried by plane, all of the cities must have airports. Obviously the fast planes are not to stop at every port along the way and the next step to be expected is the establishment of distributing routes out of the main airports. Rail and motor, for many years, may be expected to augment the airplane service by carrying first-class mails on short hauls and the second-class mails over the long distances. Yet if anything like the present rate of increase continues, the bulk of the first-class mail will go all or part of the way through the air.

Jackrabbits are doing 25 miles. Ira N. Gartleson, biologist in rodent control, United States biological survey, renders this opinion officially. His witnesses are Kansas bus drivers and motorists, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. It seems that an occasional jackrabbit will run straightaway before a bus or a car on a concrete road, which has made the measurement exact. Doctor Gartleson is afraid most people will doubt these stories that jackrabbits will run straightaway before busses and cars sometimes as far as half a mile, but we imagine they will be accepted. It is true that jackrabbits have not been doing this sort of thing, but that was so doubt because they did not have a good place to run. Opening up on the ranch prairie was out of the question, and jackrabbits knew it.

An inquiring miss at Teachers' college, Columbia university, has been taking stenographic notes of conversations between the little girls and little boys of kindergarten age, and finds that the little girl did more than two thirds of the talking. Well, what of it? The periods of recorded talk averaged only one-half hour in length, so that the feminine supremacy appears more a matter of speed than of endurance, and the latter quality is the one about which argument is held, says the Baltimore Sun. And as to speed, the talk, by probably remembered that oyster feast of the Waitrus and the Carpenter wherein the Waitrus ate the most, but the Carpenter ate all that he could get.

A beautiful, sunny Sunday; air filled with golden birch leaves, yellow thistle finches and swallows flying, singing and twittering. Thermometers on shady porches registering 80 degrees at noon. Some change from the cold 40 and 50 of the past two weeks.

A few drops of rain fell Thursday and Saturday nights, but hill sides are dry and brown, while old Potter Mountain sports a crown of golden leaves.

The benefit operetta performances held Monday and Tuesday at Camp Williola on Charles Island netted $200 for the Moses-Ludington hospital. They were generously attended, many coming from Ticonderoga. The original work of the young Eagle Lake players was most enjoyable. Let other pens, better acquainted than mine, give details of this novel event, the only one since the famous burlesque of "Julius Caesar," given three years ago, in which a daring conspirator fell on his formidable webbing short sword and lived.

Peter Flint has received word that Walter Camp, Jr., has just married Ruth Elder, the daring aviatrix. Camp declares that he simply "Won't be Mrs. Ruth Elder." In this he resembles his distinguished father, the "father of American football," Walter Chauncey Camp, Yale 1880, Mr. Flint's late friend and classmate with Walter Crafts Witherbee of Port Henry. Camp, Sr., married a sister of the famous political economy professor, Wm. Graham Sumner, of Yale.

John Hall's funeral drew a large number of his old friends and neighbors this afternoon. He was famous in this section as a "caller" at all old fashioned dances and merry-makings, and directed many "catillons" among the city folks as well. He called his famous "mustang" dance at the housewarming party on Fox Island, owned by Edward Runge of Flushing, as well as at an open air dance at "Birchwood." He had also called for "Fraternaland" at Paradox Lake and last week even invaded Ticonderoga's jazzy precincts, conducting old dances there each week, helping along Henry Ford's modern dancing ideas.

An ex-forest ranger informs us that 2000 brook trout were lately introduced to a warm water pond south of here and will furnish fine bait next year for the various wolves of the fish tribe. He said "York state must be rich to feed brook trout to pickerel."

We hear of a very important land transaction, the sale to a local cottager of the entire old Houghtalling property here, formerly the location of the Eagle Lake House. The purchaser is expecting to build two cottages on the site, the foundations of which will soon be started. Thus the fear that these premises might become a road house, with customary connections, is now happily dispelled for all times. It will be recalled that the hotel property was claimed by a daughter of the proprietor, a G.A.R. veteran, who hailed originally from Crescent, N.Y., near Schenectady and the hotel and lands were awarded to her by Surrogate Pyrke of Port Henry, through a legal contest brought by a Schenectady attorney, she having also employed Mr. Flint of that city as associate counsel.

Some of our expert bee hunters are putting up their "stands" among likely patches of golden rod and other tall flowers. The writer witnessed fully 300 little gray fellows on and about two honey combs Friday. Their returns in two minutes for more sweets showed a treasure tree 80 rods off, according to bee hunters lore.

Representatives from the Lodge, Harris, Fisher and Conklin Camps motored to Crown Point and helped fill the school house auditorium there Saturday evening at the Tormey-Hummel violin and piano recital. We certainly are fast becoming a most artistic and music-loving community.

THE BANK'S PART IN THE FARM PROBLEM

By H. LANE YOUNG

Member American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission

ONE of the most discussed and least understood questions regarding the farmer's problems is the part the bank has played, or is to play, in financing the farmer. The basis of an operation between the two, however, is a very simple one.

H. Lane Young

Both sides are subject to criticism for the condition that exists today. The major share of the blame rests on those banks that have failed through disregarding fundamental principles in loaning other people's money, that have encouraged the farmer to expect bank loans without first pulling his business on the earning basis which would justify a bank to lend him money.

One of the underlying reasons for the failure of so many country banks has been the existence of too many banks. With the limited business of the community divided among too many banks it was impossible for them to make enough money to justify the employment of officers with the proper ability to manage the bank successfully. Then the scramble for business was so hard that good judgment and foresight were forgotten in granting loans, with the resultant failure of the weaker institutions.

In the future, banks are not going to loan the money of their depositors without the kind of security that can be immediately realized upon in case the loan is not paid, or unless the applicant presents a sound and successful record of business operation—whether that business be manufacturing, merchandising, or farming.

Farming-Banking Interdependent

This is a perfectly obvious attitude, because country banking cannot be successfully and profitably carried on unless farming is successfully and profitably operated—the two businesses are dependent upon each other. There is no longer any question that the time has arrived for these interdependent businesses to reach a common ground of understanding of the requirements that both must meet for their mutual welfare.

There is no doubt but what the future prosperity of the farmer and the basis of cooperation between banker and farmer is the intelligent diversification of crops. It is necessary, however, to have the right conception of diversification.

The mistake that many farmers have made in attempting to diversify has been to diversify too much, too soon, and land in a new and untried crop—sometimes a hazardous crop or one for which no immediate market has been developed, resulting in a loss of the initial effort and discouragement of future efforts on a more conservative basis.

Regarding the primary and essential principle of farming—namely, in increasing returns by decreasing the cost of production through the practice of building up soil by crop rotation and intensive cultivation, it is responsible for a large share of the farmer's trouble today.

REDWING

July 10, 1930

Most of the old cottagers have arrived for the summer and the Schroon stage brings from Chilson a bag for each daily.

The fishing is fair this year, the bait being mostly a small, black minnow about a finger long, having a sucker mouth. These tempt the bass, which now refuse even shiners.

George Hand lately caught in one day two ten pound great northern pike.

Among those who attended the Ticonderoga celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Flint, who took the Schroon stage at 8 a.m. Thursday, arriving in ample time to witness the grand parade at 9:30 a.m., led by Prof. Gizzarelli's Citizen Band of Port Henry. In keeping with the true historical spirit of the occasion, Mr. Flint secured rooms at the home of Thomas Mahar, 89 West Exchange street, which was, before rebuilt, the general store of George Thompson, Esq., Mr. Flint's maternal grandfather, the large dwelling house adjoining on the west being still in the hands of his grandfather's descendants. Mr. Flint assisted the band, playing the flute with the large wood wind section of that organization, both during the interesting ball game at Weed Park and at the evening band concert, opposite the Hotel Burleigh. He had played the clarinet with the predecessor of the present band some 40 years ago, under the late Thomas L. Witherbee, Esq., up to and including the celebrated Blaine campaign, after which he left Port Henry for New York city.

It's a safe bet that the highway from Paradox here will be completed in about 30 days, judging from the great loads of crushed rock sent west from Alanson Moore's quarry. This will then made walking a pleasure, the loose stones now in the road making pedestrian efforts very difficult.

We are all anxiously awaiting the arrival on Charles Island of William Conkling and family, at present detained by Mr. Conkling's indisposition.

ington hospital with a very bad case of hernia, and would be operated upon Tuesday forenoon.

Mrs. Nelson Feely and two children, Jane and Jack, and Mrs. W. H. Meigs are at Albion Cottage in Cooks Bay for a few weeks vacation. Had a rather singular experience with a young pheasant recently, it came onto the kitchen porch and flew against the kitchen window repeatedly, making most piteous cries. I went out and caught it and crushed a strawberry in its mouth and petted it a bit and then released it back of the house in the grass. Sometime after I heard it again on the same porch, and as I went out it flew against the window and I caught it and called Mr. Moses and, after keeping it a while, he took it down in the woods and freed it. The strange part was how it passed the other porch and came back to the front of the house again to the same window—possibly it was another one of the same flock, for this one had a top knot which I had failed to observe on the first one. We kept it only until a dog that was here had gone, which we feared might kill it. I have fed all sorts of strays, but never so persistent as one as this.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur French and helpers have opened their Camp Ticonderoga and have a large school of young people again this year. Had a bad attack of rheumatism and was unable to attend services Sunday, much to my regret. Rev. and Mrs. Merritt Miller officiated in the pulpit and at the organ and we knew, from the generous collection, that many of Mr. French's young people attended and again are furnishing music for us during the summer, for which the chapel trustees are more than appreciative.

Would like to make a correction in an item quoted from a Springfield paper that Mrs. D. H. Allis, widow of the late Dr. Allis, announces the engagement of her daughter, Catherine, to Harvey H. Moses, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moses, instead of to Marvel H. Moses. There is no such person as the latter that I am aware of.

MACDONALD PREPARES NEW TOURIST MAP

Lists Over Two Hundred Points of Interest in the State

Albany, June 5.—Conservation Commissioner Alexander Macdonald has just prepared a conservation map of New York state for the assistance and guidance of tourists. On this map more than two hundred places for tourists and vacationists are marked so to make it easier for anyone to lay out a route to take him to the places he wishes to visit without loss of time.

The new map is an up-to-date highway map on which all parks and other places under the jurisdiction of the Conservation Department are marked by red circles with an identifying letter and number. Parks are indicated by P; public camps by C; historic places by A, and so on through ten separate classifications. Letters and figures in the margin of the map makes it easy to locate any point of interest without having to study the map.

Twenty-nine points of historic interest are listed on the map, including places of national historic importance, such as the Saratoga Battlefield, where was fought the most important battle of the Revolutionary War; Crown Point, Dennington Battlefield, Oriskany Battlefield, Lake George Battlefield, Washington's Headquarters, Sir William Johnson Mansion, and other places made famous in the Revolutionary, French and Indian Wars and the early Colonial days which are now preserved and cared for by the state.

Fifty state parks and reservations, including Niagara Falls, the Thousand Islands, Saratoga Springs, the Palisades of the Hudson, Old Forge lakes and many others known the world over are all included in the state's unified park system, and marked on the map, as are also twenty-six public camp sites, some located on favorite fishing waters, others on bathing beaches and all supplied with all the essentials for an enjoyable vacation.

Fire observation towers on the tops of the state's highest mountains, affording magnificent views of the surrounding country, are also listed on the map.

On the back of the map are photographs of more than fifty points of interest, some of them scenic and some showing the activities of the parks and camp sites,—surf bathing at the Long Island parks, picnicking in the St. Lawrence forests, Batsoka and the public camp sites.

These maps will be supplied to tourist bureaus, automobile clubs, or to individuals upon application to the Conservation Department at Albany.

Will Not Add County to Congressional District

Ogdensburg, June 5.—A county will not be added to the 31st congressional district because instead of a decrease in population in the district there has been an increase. Due to the possibility that a decrease might result in another vote by being added, bond reports on the population were awaited with more than ordinary interest in political circles.

The district consists of St. Lawrence, Hamilton, Warren and Essex

Peter Flint Attends Reunion of Class of 1880 at Yale

Peter Flint attended the reunion of his Class of 1880 Academic, at Yale College, New Haven, Conn., from June 14th to 19th. The headquarters was at the Nathan Hale Inn, formerly the residence mansion of a distinguished New Haven family on Whitney avenue.

Thirty-five members of the sixty-one members of the graduating number 122, were present, many with their wives and dependents. The entire class made their home during the entire time at the inn where they were housed and had all their meals, following a custom originated with this class at reunions there.

Saturday evening eighty attended a performance of John Suberwally, "The Roof" in the University Theatre which was packed to capacity. The class was as young and sprightly as many of them at twenty years or more younger. Colonel Norton is a former president of the class and editor of the Journal of the Connecticut of New Haven, presided at all the several banquets and luncheons held at the inn.

The class had seats next to the platform of the great Almont driveway field on the campus Wednesday at

The warm weather of the past two or three days has been a relief to those who previously found the temperature a little cold. 38 degrees is reported creditably for three nights at Sand Pond, Boreas section, and it was about that here.

The lake is rarely as quiet as it was all day Friday - meaning the placidity of its surface - not a leaf stirring in the forest, gives one a forecast of city temperatures.

Among the stories vouched for is the care of a young buck deer that came along the state road last winter and looked into one of Alanson Moore's store windows, appearing very tame. Of course, such an addition to his winter larder could not be disregarded by this well known sportsman. He also states that a deer had done the same thing in the two previous winters. This is like Jack Bennett's experience at his farm one winter lately. He had been out after venison all day and returned about night fall tired and hungry. He leaned his loaded rifle against the wall and sat down to supper. Just then Mrs. Bennett spoke up, "why, there's your deer out in the barnyard, feeding the cows, now." A connection was immediately effected with the old Winchester and there was venison aplenty there for some time.

George E. Fischer, an old New York friend of Peter Flint of Arden Lodge, is this season at the cottage of Prof. Garis of Union College, located near Crown Point Bay. The friends and families had a canoe visit on the lake lately.

It is a pity that the loose cobble stones, dug from the hard road bed here by the road machines, cannot be raked off by the highway authorities. They make it almost impossible to walk in safety, especially at night.

The large garage building in connection with the beautiful residence on the old hotel site is nearly completed and Mr. Spaulding, its owner is expected here in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford and family of Buffalo are at "Napahwin."

MORNING SID

August 14, 1930

Fishing in Eagle Lake has been poor all season, and it's not for want of fish. It seems that the finny inhabitants are so surfeited with an abundant supply of their natural prey that they are not often tempted to seize the angler's hook, no matter how temptingly displayed. In many parts, the lake bottom is literally covered with a new species of small fish about three inches long, which afford the larger ones abundant food. Thousands of white fish have been put into this lake, as late as April last, by the Conservation commission aides.

The perch, which were formerly abundant along the shore and in shallow waters, literally cover the bottom in places on the Sunken islands, and rarely will take bait. They seem to have all moved to that locality and whether it is the auto boats of food migration no one knows.

Pickrel here seem to live on air, or rather water. A four pound male fish, caught near Arden Lodge on a Buel spoon, had had no breakfast or dinner. The pickrel taken in Lake Champlain, opposite Port Henry, nearly always had eaten largely of perch, and the great ones were partial to the young of their kind there.

There is no question that the auger-boring practices of ice fishermen on the lake have greatly lessened former abundance of perch. They, at that time, are about ready to spawn and the females are filled with eggs.

During the week a number of people have called at Arden Lodge to see its large, rough stone fireplace, including Mr. and Mrs. Sid Rosen and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mahar. Mr. Mahar looked over this cedar log covered structure with a view, partly, of building a similar one at the old Vineyard farm, in place of the old house lately destroyed by fire. These lodge logs of back covered cedar grew in the Boreas River country and were delivered here in 1901 by Mr. O'Neil of Blue Ridge. The lodge was then erected by the late Pearl Hutchins and Mr. Flint, working together, and camping on the site.

It is quite thrilling to see John Ford manage his little mutton-leg skiff, tacking across the broad lake in these recent fresh gales. The sloop "points up" wonderfully for such a small craft.

The trucks from "Rock City" are coating the state highway at a rapid rate, and at times are passing almost continuously. The workmen have arrived at the bay at the foot of the lake and the trips are much shortened daily.

Hedgehogs, having eaten the tops off some of his young hemlocks at Arden Lodge, its owner has devised a series of traps near their dens, with the result that no fewer than four large rodents, the last weighing 16 pounds, have been taken.

The many still nights on the water were broken Sunday morning by a tremendous gale with some rainfall, lowering local temperature several degrees. The great stillness observed on the lake Saturday evening was due largely to the attendance at Treadway's dancing pavilion, where Eagle Lake used to meet Chilson on the diamond in days gone by.

Chilson had a good baseball nine, to the writer's knowledge, as may as 60 years ago. Some of the old nine are still living, like Abel Moore, Frank Sartwell and Tom Stowell, the older.

Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Conklin have been in the Royal Victoria hospital in Montreal all summer, where Mr. Conklin underwent a major operation on July 3rd. His convalescence has been very slow. Mr. Conklin was injured at the beginning of the war in 1915, when he was chairman of the relief and investigating committees that were organized in France by Ambassador Myron Herrick. He has suffered much of the time from shell and nerve shock.

In 1926 Mr. Conklin, as a member of the World's Committee of the Y.M.C.A. attended the World's Conference at Helsingford and afterwards studied the New Youth and Educational Movements throughout Europe, following which he had a severe breakdown. Since then he has been a semi-invalid.
