Eagle Lake, New York
November 3, 1914

Edward Runge, Esq.
154 Bowne Avenue
Flushing, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Runge:

Yours of Oct. 30/14 received. In reply I repeat what I wrote in my recent letter: that I was regularly retained by you last June to prepare and serve the original Complaint in your case & to make & argue the motion for a temporary injunction in the attempt to have an immediate restoration of the former water level at Eagle Lake. For this work I received $100 in advance, (as agreed,) & finished said work on July 7, 1914. (No)

From that time on, as previously stated, I did not receive a dollar for my services in the various steps in the case leading up to the present demurrer to the New or Amended Complaint until Sept. 3/14 when I received through Mr. George Hurd $25, on a/c of the $50 promised me on that day on account of services up to & including the argument of the present demurrer.

By order of the Supreme Court, you were directed to pay defendants' attorney, Mr. Dudley, the sum of $45, his costs, before the amended Complaint could be served on him. This $45 was paid Mr. Dudley by check from Mrs. Runge, handed to me at the time & which I then forwarded to him. By reference to returned check vouchers you will find that I am correct in this. Later on, as explained, I received $15, further on account of my fee, from Mr. Fitzgerald making the total amount received on my fee $40.75 As explained, I asked for & received from you on Sept. 3/14 the sum of $5 for typewriting the amended complaint--the only sum I have ever received from you for disbursements, although my disbursements for typewriting, stamps etc. amounted to more than $20 before July 7/14 & I made no charge for transportation & expenses on my two trips to Port Henry. Off advanced 3/2

I have, therefore, as before stated, had in all the sum of $40.75 toward the sum agreed upon on Sept. 3rd as my fee of $200, for carrying through the case to a finish. No $100

If, after this demurrer has been argued, you still feel like dropping the case, you can instruct me to that effect, but something like $100 costs to Mr. Dudley, defendants' attorney will be imposed upon you by the court for so doing, as would be imposed upon defendants, should they try to withdraw. I care too much for the case & the principles involved to abandon it, even if you fail to keep your agreement with me as to fees. It may be possible, as you suggest to find a property owner, who can be substituted in your place to continue this case.

Kindly send me the balance of $10 on the promised advance of $50 also $10 for my disbursements going to Fort Henry, as I need same very much. You will note in my last letter a reference to the $20 already contributed by American Steel & Wire Company through my efforts and now in the hands of Mr. Luthy. This will meet this sum.

With kindest regards to the family in which Mrs. Flint joins I am, with confidence in the ultimate success of our just cause

Faithfully yours
