I've suspected for a long time that the town has been holding back something that will allow it to form a water district whether or not Chilson-Eagle Lake residents agree to it. In this report in the Times of Ti, the town attorney may have let the cat out of the bag: there is indeed such a plan. Read the article, but I've highlighted what I think is the relevant remark below:

"The town can create a district, but residents can reject it by petition. THE TOWN COULD ALSO BYPASS THE PETITION PROCESS BY TAKING THE PROJECT DIRECTLY TO REFERENDUM," said Town Attorney Matt Fuller.
