Enclosed please find our ProcellaCOR frequently asked question (FAQ) sheet. It contains a lot of information about the product, the process, safety, and it contains internet links to additional information.

Notification letters to lake front property owners were sent February 20, our application to NYSDEC was submitted in February, and our application was sent to the APA March 10, 2023. We will have an informal public informational meeting in late April, the NYSDEC and APA will have public comment periods, and our Town Board will have a formal public hearing in May before making a final decision. Informational updates will be posted on the Town website and social media outlets.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Town of Lake Luzerne Town Board

EPA toxicology studies found no adverse acute or chronic effects to human health. The EPA concluded that drinking water exposures to ProcellaCOR do not pose a human health risk and no federal drinking water restrictions were necessary. EPA [2] and DEC both concluded there is no hazard or concern for the byproducts of decomposition of ProcellaCOR.

Will there be a detrimental impact on wildlife and non-target aquatic plants?

No. ProcellaCOR is extremely selective in that it specifically targets Eurasian watermilfoil. This herbicide has shown no impact to aquatic animals and almost no impact upon other aquatic plants. The EPA found no risk concerns for non-target wildlife, which was supplemented by university studies in Washington and North Carolina.
